

Poems from Bird in the Head (Center for Book Arts, 2005) have appeared in:

Beltway, Many Mountains Moving, Old Red Kimono, POETRY, Poetry Kanto, and ReVision.

The book was reviewed in the Kenyon Review and the Boston Phoenix. In awarding the manuscript the Center for Book Arts prize, poet Jean Valentine said:

These are poems of egolessness. Reading, I sense the [poet's] father himself as another, opposite poet, nearly invisible.... This is a book of yearning, and wise love.

Follow this link to read the title poem from the book:

"Bird in the Head," at POETRY magazine

"Conceptual Artist," "LETTER: GUILT TRIP," "Feeling for My Audience," "Hirundo" in Beltway Quarterly.